

The author would like to acknowledge the help of Mark Mortenson. Mark worked with me for over a year understanding the concepts I had developed, helping me understand the referenced material on tetration, ensuring that the material in my preliminary presentations was correctly stated, and writing my paper in a way that was understandable to other mathematicians. The author greatly appreciated his time and expertise.